ALCOHOL'S PART IN THE WORLD WAR

Noted Member of American Chemical Society Tells What Should be Done With Liquor Factories

(By Allen Rogers, Ph. D.)
Alcoholic beverages must go. The requirement is clear. Alcohol can fill liquor glasses to satisfy the wilful appetite of thousands of Americans living comfortably at home, or it can be transferred to fill a hundred hospital beds to save the lives and relieve the sufferings of other thousands on the battlefields.
Alcohol may play its part in the gayeties of the club, and in the home—or it can play a bigger part in the manufacture of the munitions which alone can bring us victory. It may be transferred into beverages which make for pleasure, or it may become the fuel that will serve the nation when other fuels are lacking.
Alcohol can no longer satisfy the demands of the country's indulgence only. It must serve the thousands of industrial purposes that are the vital needs of America at war. And in war time, everything must go that hampers the work of a successful mobilization of the country's resources, and leads to final victory.
Every extravagance and waste in home life and public life must be eliminated, and the great industry of alcoholic beverage manufacture must bow before the demands of the nation in its time of crisis. This is no sentimental demand,—nor religious, nor even moral,—it is the demand of the nation's chemists, based upon scientific analysis.

No man would assume that we should curb our supply of ether in order to increase our supply of beverages in time of peace, and no man will say that our soldiers should be denied the greatest possible protection because the manufacture of their medicine depends upon the reduction of our alcoholic drinks. As a local anesthetic, as a heart and respiration stimulant, and for many other purposes, ether, so largely made of alcohol, finds wide use on the battlefield.
Ether may be used in connection with kerosene to produce a very satisfactory substitute for gasoline in motor cars. It may be employed as a solvent, as a cleaning solution for guns, and for many other important purposes. Its use as such, on a large scale, is impossible now, because while denatured alcohol is free, pure alcohol, used in the manufacture of ether, costs $2.40 a gallon, of which $2.00 is tax. European countries have removed this tax, and ether is now made in quantities.—Europe's plan has been successful. It was forced upon her by dire necessity. Let us learn by her experience.

Alcohol is of fundamental necessity as a solvent in the manufacture of explosives. We must be sure that the present abnormal demand is not hampered even remotely. Consider the comparative importance of alcohol for beverages and for explosives in war times.
As fuel, alcohol finds a great use, and fuel will be in unnatural demand as the war goes on. For internal combustion engines, for cooking stoves, and for numerous other purposes, alcohol, as a fuel, must help win the war. Emergencies will arise, and shortages in other fuels will appear suddenly. There must be no curtailment of this source.

Not only for ether, for explosives, and for fuel, does this country need alcohol. This need goes into nearly every industrial field, and this need is always increased by war. For a great number of medicinal purposes other than ether, alcohol is essential; the preparation of dye-stuffs depends upon it, and the manufacture of many shellacs and varnishes. These are only a few of alcohol's industrial uses.
"But why not use wood alcohol for all these purposes," goes the argument, "and continue using grain alcohol in the manufacture of liquor?" And the nation's chemists answer impossible. The vapors of wood alcohol are blinding, and its use is highly dangerous for all manufacturing. Efficiency? Economy? What will become of these if the great industrial units, now elaborately organized and busily engaged in the manufacture of alcoholic beverages, must close up shop, abruptly?
Don't close the breweries and distilleries. Transform them. INSTEAD OF MAKING ALCOHOL FOR DRINKS, MAKE IT FOR THE MANUFACTURE OF EXPLOSIVES, MAKE IT FOR ETHER AND OTHER MEDICINAL PURPOSES, MAKE IT FOR FUEL, MAKE IT FOR DYES AND SHELLACS,—MAKE IT FOR EVERY USE TO WHICH UNCLE SAM'S CHEMISTS CAN PUT IT. IN THE SUPREME MOMENT WHEN ALL THINGS MUST GO TO THE MELTING POT TO BE TURNED TO THE NATION'S GREATEST GOOD.
